Many children are reported missing each day in the U.S.

Most are found within hours and have happy endings, and police officials say that time is critical in the recovery of missing children. One major problem that costs precious time is the gathering of current photographs, fingerprints, and statistical information to assist law enforcement agencies.

FBI quality digital fingerprints and photographs.

S.I.P. Kids will take a child's picture and fingerprints, using a digital inkless fingerprint capture device, and include them as part of the child's file that is provided to the parent. The parents can use the record to give directly to authorities anywhere to instantly aid in an investigation. There will also be community organizations present to provide safety information to families.
